

Insuring that every student is connected to at least one caring and responsible adult at school

- 1) At a faculty meeting, put the name of every student in school (or the academy) on a 3 X 5 card. Put all the cards/names of the students up on a wall.
- 2) Give each faculty member small colored "dots" that stick on paper.
- 3) Ask school personnel to put a dot next to each student who they feel "connected" to in a positive and strong manner.
- 4) Note which students have no dots next to their name.
- 5) As a group, ask "who among us is most connected to the students who do not have any dots next to their name."
- 6) Assign faculty to these students.
