Who we are

Ramapo NYC (representing the recent mergers of Ramapo for Children, the Youth Development Institute, and the National School Climate Center) exists so that children, young people, and caring adults can connect, learn, lead, and thrive together. We do this by transforming schools, organizations, and systems to prioritize youth voice and contribution, and to intentionally cultivate caring, inclusive, equitable, and healing communities. Ramapo NYC works with thousands of youth, schools, families, and organizations each year through workshops, coaching, peer learning, data measurement, and evaluation.
